Whoever serves me must follow me; and where I am, my servant also will be.. My Father will honor the one who serves me

John 12:26

We have been thinking that this is the Fifth year of producing a newsletter in one format or another. The information has run the gambit of the many different things we have done, been involved in, or reflected on.

The one thing that has never changed though is being in service to the Lord God Almighty. We have always tried to be the best servants we can in most everything we do and the people we come in contact with. Do we fail? Of course we do, we are human, there is no way we can be perfect. We have our faults and failings, that is by design back from Adam and Eve.

Our servant hood to our brothers and sisters is strong in some areas, but weak in other areas. We have been strong in the services we offer. We offer songs and hymns that pertain to the seasons, but also to the people's memories of their earlier life. The messages we provide come from a variety of people with a variety of backgrounds, but all with a Christian background, grounded from the Word of God. We offer to pray for resident's specific needs, we offer to stay around after services and explain things to the people and we offer to give out free Bibles to those who do not have one.

Where we are weak is in the discipling of new believers. It is ok to get an unsaved person to take that first step. Like any babe, the second step, the third step and onwards steps are important, until that baby in Christ can manage walking forward on their own. Of course we have some obstacles in our way like memory loss. Dementia can be an obstacle to those who have made the decision to accept Christ, but may not remember this. We encounter relatives who talk their loved ones out of doing any sort of discipleship studies. There are many obstacles that make discipling people hard but not impossible. The biggest obstacle is trying to find Christian people who will come along side of us and help out in this area of servant hood and ministry.

If this would be an area of ministry you have a talent or a desire to serve God with, then please contact us. We would love to talk with you.

Friendship Cards

Do you have a knack for making cards by stamping or free hand design? We give out cards telling how Jesus can be or is their friend at the locations we visit. If you have an interest in making cards for many of our dear friends out there. Then we could use your assistance in making cards that show the love of Jesus and His children to the many of those who do not know of Jesus or have not felt any love in along while. Contact us for more information.
